" Nihil eſt quod adhuc de republicâ putem
" dictum, et quo poſſim longius progredi, niſi ſit
" confirmatum, non modo falſum eſſe illud, ſine in-
" juriâ non poſſe, ſed hoc veriſſimum, ſine ſummâ
" juſtitiâ rempublicam regi non poſſe."—Cic. Frag. lib. ii. de Repub.

" Juſtice is itſelf the great ſtanding policy of
" civil ſociety, and any eminent departure from it,
" under any circumſtances, lies under the ſuſpi-
" cion of being no policy at all."—Burke's Works, vol. iii. p. 207.

FINIS.

FH
MVSEVM
BRITANNICVM